Lt General C. P. Cabell
Deputy Director
Central Intelligence Agency
2430 E. Street, N. W.
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear General Cabell:

You may recall that in the briefing which you recently arranged for me, I mentioned that my office would be particularly interested in the operation of your Technical Services Division.

The Office of Special Investigations has an immediate interest in all types of technical equipment that has an intelligence or counter-intelligence potential. While we are primarily interested in counter-measures, and defense against this type of equipment, a thorough knowledge of all equipment of this nature is most essential and desirable in the development of appropriate security measures. At the time of the briefing, I mentioned the possibility that OSI might be testing or experimenting with equipment which has already been tested by your agency and vice versa. Since this is a matter of mutual interest to us, we agreed that it might be well to have representatives from this agency visit your Technical Services Division. This will give us the opportunity of becoming better acquainted with equipment presently being utilized, or being developed for future use.

If it is agreeable, I would very much appreciate it if you could arrange to have the following officers of my staff briefed relative to the equipment you have tested or have under study and development at the present time. These officers are cleared for access to Top Secret:

Colonel Doyle Rees, Commandant, USAF Special Investigations School (OSI).

Major James G. Strobel, Chief, Technical Security Branch, USAF Special Investigations School (OSI).

Captain Thomas M. McKee, Jr., Project Officer, (Electronics), Technical Security Branch, USAF Special Investigations School (OSI).

First Lieutenant George C. Williams, Project Officer (Photography and Looks), Technical Security Branch, USAF Special Investigations School (OSI).

USAF review(s) completed.
